

Francesco Durante - ROUND ROBIN NUMERICAL FLOW SIMULATION IN WIND ENERGY

An alternative solution to improve the reliability of resource assessment over complex terrain is represented by the use of fluid dynamical numerical models. Presently, different typologies of numerical models and methodologies are adopted for wind resource evaluation. The DEWI Round Robin attempted to provide a classification and an evaluation of the typical errors associated to the most common used models in wind energy."